

Keiko Takahashi, Senior Business Analyst | University of California – Irvine

Keiko Takahashi is a senior business analyst at University of California, Irvine engaged in Kualu Financial System implementation at the campus. As a contributed resource, Keiko is also responsible for developing specifications for the Kualu Travel and Entertainment Module for the Kualu community. Keiko has over 20 years of combined experience in financial system implementation and support as administrative computing staff at California State University and University of California, and as a senior consultant at rSmart (Kualu commercial affiliate). Keiko has been an active member of the Kualu community in the last five years, playing multiple roles in the support of the community.