

Sarah Moon, Travel Manager & Business Services Buyer | Boston University

Born and raised on Cape Cod, Sarah received her BS in Travel and Tourism from Clemson University and recently her Master's in Business Innovation and Technology at Boston University. She began her career in hotels at a small resort on Cape Cod, and then moved to corporate sales with Wyndham hotels in the greater Boston area. After spending time as the business travel sales manager for the Lenox and Copley Square Hotels in Boston's Back Bay neighborhood, she left the sales world, becoming the first Business Travel Manager at Boston University.

In 2007 Sarah was tasked with building a travel program from the ground up by first assessing the 52-year relationship with the incumbent TMC and ultimately awarding a new company, launching both a travel website, an online booking tool and ultimately creating a brand within the University called BU Travel Services. Over the past four years she has worked to sell BU Travel Services internally and move business to the online booking tool, currently at 20% compliance. In July Boston University went live with SAP, and Sarah continues to play an integral part in the T&E process as well as the sourcing processes.
